

THERE IS NO BETTER RETURN
ON YOUR INVESTMENT.

Here is your chance to invest in the future.

Your gifts allow us to open doors to a diverse and deserving student population that might otherwise be overlooked. Almost 75% of Bay Path students represent the first in their families to attend college. Close to 90% of them rely on financial aid to remain in school.

Because of donor support, we are able to deliver the academic programs and experiences that propel our students into careers that not only change their lives, but also impact the well being of all of us.

Thanks to your generosity, we see our students flourishing educationally, professionally and personally. Every day, they are accomplishing amazing things.

Here are just a few of their stories.

Thanks to Pat, Amanda's journey has just begun.

Mandy's path toward becoming a pediatric physician included a nine-day road trip with Bay Path's One America program. Along the way, she worked shoulder-to-shoulder with struggling families and communities; preparing meals for homeless shelters, helping out on farms, and visiting Medical Centers in and around Washington, D.C. It was there that Mandy identified where she wanted the next stop on her personal journey to be. Johns Hopkins Medical School in Baltimore, MD. Thanks to underwriting support from Pat Pierce and other visionaries like her, Bay Path students are taking their good works on the road, and beyond.

Amanda Placeres '11 is a National Science Foundation Scholar with a passion for community service.

Pat Pierce delights in helping women find their true path.

Thanks to Jane, Enix is helping families cope one day at a time.

Enix also teaches the course “Women in Leadership” in the Saturday program.

Jane Roulier '89 continues to help women follow their dreams one scholarship at a time.

After completing her undergraduate degree through the One-Day-A-Week Saturday Program in 2008, Enix Zavala knew she wanted to pursue her Master's Degree in the very same way. A 2009 graduate of the Masters In Non-Profit Management Program, Enix recognizes that people are stronger when they can be together and support one another. This was her own experience as one of the Saturday students at Bay Path College, and it underlines her philosophy today as the House Manager for the Ronald McDonald House in Springfield, MA. Thanks to the generous support of donors like Jane Roulier '89, Enix now helps families of children with serious illness live together in comfort during the toughest of times.

Velvet McLasky '10 intends to pursue a career as a crime scene investigator.

Professor Bernstine and other super heroes, continue to work for the good guys.

Thanks to Ed, Velvet is out there solving crime.

Velvet McLasky '10 is using her Organic Chemistry and Evidence and Forensic Anthropology classes to serve the public as an intern with the FBI in Washington, D.C. Because of her education at Bay Path that included classes with Professor Bernstine, she was able to intern side-by-side with forensic scientists in the world's most famous crime lab. Thanks to Ed, whose gift inspires future researchers, and other generous donations that allowed us to renovate and equip our state of the art science laboratories, Bay Path is launching students into careers that serve us all.

Thanks to Angie and Dusty, Sarah's hitting every mark.

Sarah Gates '11 currently holds the best batting average of all Division III players in the nation.

Angie McGinnis and Dusty Hoyt continue to support the team.

Future occupational therapist Sarah Gates '11 knows first hand the connection between a healthy body and a clear mind. As co-captain of both the field hockey and softball teams, she's embraced hard work, leadership, and finding the balance between sports and academics. Bay Path is an NCAA Division III school and fields six varsity sports: soccer, volleyball, tennis, cross-country, basketball and softball. Thanks to the health and fitness funding from Angie McGinnis, Dusty Hoyt and others who rally with them, Bay Path is able to compete with the best.

At Bay Path, every gift is personal.

Bay Path students rely on gifts of all sizes from alumni, parents, friends, corporations and foundations. Your donations support more than scholarships, capital building projects, entrepreneurial programs, study abroad, athletics and independent research. Your generous gift makes a difference in all of our lives.
